

Level: Bachelor
Course title: Nautical Tourism
Status: Elective
ECTS: 5
Requirements: None
Learning objectives Pointing out direct and indirect significance and influence of the world seas, lakes and rivers to the scope and intensity of tourist movements in the world and in our country. To provide students with a broad understanding of the nautical tourism - one of nine key tourism products in Serbia.
Learning outcomes Adopting a realistic notion on the importance of the world seas, lakes and rivers for tourism movements as well as knowledge on tourism sub-forms within nautical tourism. Ability to recognise possible and future nautical destinations, as well as to indicate all issues and constraints related to this tourism form.
Syllabus Theoretical instruction Historical development of nautical tourism. Terms and definitions of nautical tourism, its resources and infrastructure (vessels, equipment, carrying objects, etc.), hydrographic characteristics of certain countries related to nautical tourism, sub-forms, etc. The world leading destinations (emissive or receptive), events, research methods, nautical tourists' behaviour and demands. Nautical tourism in Serbia. Practical instruction Preparation for seminar paper writing based on the analysis of the problems through certain examples in the world and in our country. Survey and other types of students' research.
Weekly teaching load 4(60)				Other:
Lectures: 2	Exercises: 2	Other forms of teaching:	Student research:	